The camp, designed in the spirit of the great Dr. Martin Luther King, will take place from 9:00 a.m. – noon and will include visits from shelter animals, a shelter tour, and instruction on how kids can fulfill their own “dream” of helping shelter animals in need by designing their own service-related project.

*“I have a dream that one day all animals, stray, lost or abandoned, will find a home. I have a dream that one day all animals, regardless of their origin, will be loved and accepted. I have a dream today.”
